

Veterans in Hospital Primp for Visit

William Tinkler, 92, oldest patient at Veterans' Hospital, delightedly adjusts his tie and tries out his Sunday best smile in preparation for a call tomorrow afternoon from Princess Elizabeth.

John Blackwood, 88, gives his hair a military brush. The veteran of the Scottish Horse Regiment in South Africa knew Prince Philip's father and plans to look his smartest when he meets the Prince.

George Eagle, 79-year-old South African and Boer War veteran, polishes medals that bear the likeness of Queen Victoria, in hope that Princess Elizabeth will notice them and stop for a chat.

William C. Ferguson, 73, falls happily to sleep, knowing that his Royal visit plans are under control. His son is in the R.C.M.P. escort that will lead the Princess to see him in hospital.

John Lim, Second World War veteran, eagerly examines his thermometer. If the thermometer has good news he will be moved to window, so he can see Princess talking to his friends below. He was elated at the last-minute change in plans, at the wish of the Princess, that will give Royal couple time to talk with patients. (Colonist photos by Jim Ryan.)

Public Asked to Stay Off Hospital Grounds

E. G. Drage, manager of Victoria Veterans' Hospital, appealed to the public to stay off the hospital grounds when the Royal visitors arrive.

"I'd like my patients to have every chance to see them," he said. "The public will have lots of chances to see them elsewhere."

Eagle Crest Waits In Polished Splendor

(Special to The Colonist) QUALICUM BEACH, Oct. 20.—Eagle Crest, the vacation retreat for Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh for three days this week, is now completely ready for the big event.

Final polishing has been completed, new drapes and bedspreads are in place, great logs have been piled for the massive stone fireplace, pantries, meat lockers and wine cellars are stocked with the best the market offers.

With the Royal pair, their immediate staff, and maids and valets, as well as the Eagle Crest staff, there will be about 30 people in the gracious rustic lodge of logs that faces the sea, islands and mountains.

A. E. Conley, butler at Government House in Victoria, will be here during the Royal visit to serve the Princess and the Duke. Exact time of the Royal arrival at Eagle Crest is not known. They are expected Tuesday for dinner, unless they decide to stay overnight farther south at Genoa Bay.

A Victoria woman, Mrs. Vera Forde, is the first assistant to chef Mrs. Marie Colquhoun, also of Victoria. Mrs. Forde was formerly Vera Hutchings, well-known champion golfer in Vancouver and Victoria some years ago.

There is talk in the village here that the Royal pair might want to see some logging operations.

Date of Sailing Set for Troops

Victoria members of E Company, Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) Regiment, now on embarkation leave, will sail for Europe December 8. The Colonist learned last night.

Minor Disturbance gave the Stonetown a rough time. The ship radioed Victoria that the storm hit yesterday morning and was heading east in a bad mood.

There is not much chance of it veering off," the weatherman said. Minor Disturbance promises showers, cloudy weather and winds from southwest up to 30 miles per hour this afternoon.

Minor Disturbance will stay over until Monday, the weatherman predicted.

One other forecast: Merely because of its bad timing, Minor Disturbance will be known as one of the "worst" storms of the year.

Resort to Fly Royal Standard

QUALICUM BEACH, Oct. 20.—Oct. 24 and 25 will be red letter days for Qualicum Beach, days which will make this Vancouver Island beauty spot the focal point of interest to the many thousands who are watching the Canadian tour of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The Royal Standard will fly proudly over Eaglecrest when the Princess and her husband are there for a much-needed rest from cheering crowds and flaring flash bulbs.

The last time the Royal Standard fluttered over Vancouver Island was during the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth in May, 1939. Then it was flown over Government House in Victoria.

The Princess Elizabeth, Duchess of Edinburgh

Princess Elizabeth's personal standard is described in terms of heraldry as bearing the Royal Arms, differenced by a label of three points argent, the centre point charged with a Tudor Rose and each of the other points with St. George's Cross. Supporters: On the dexter, a lion guardant or, crowned with the Royal Crown proper; on the sinister, a stag proper with similar labels. Surmounting the lozenge, the Royal Coronet of her rank.

The Princess and the Duke are both members of the Order of the Garter, and the Garter with its famous motto, "Honi soit qui mal y pense" (Evil to him who evil thinks) appears on both crests.

THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH.

Prince Philip's naval background is expressed in his coat of arms by a shield-supporting figure of the lion of England with naval crown around its neck. A second supporter is Hercules, representing Greece. Similar shields on a larger shield represent the arms of Greece, of Denmark and of Princess Alice, Grand Duchess of Hesse, being the Royal Arms of England, differenced by the label of three points, the centre point charged with a rose and each of the other points with an ermine spot. A crest with five ostrich feathers reproduces the Mountbatten arms. The motto is "God is my help."

Logging Permit Under Survey

Further development of British Columbia's interior is preserved in an application for a forest management license on lands of the Upper Whistler Lake drainage area.

The application was announced yesterday by the provincial lands department. It was from William Waidle & Sons Ltd., of Castle Gar.

Royal Commission Will Probe Death

A Royal Commission will investigate circumstances surrounding the death of Daniel Leroy Sanger at Oakalla Prison Farm, Attorney-General Gordon Wisner announced yesterday.

The investigation will be made at the request of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, he said. "And I want to find out what the facts are."

The attorney-general said no one had been appointed to the commission but added that he hoped it could be handled by a judge.

Sanger, awaiting trial on a murder charge, was removed to Oakalla from Victoria earlier this month. He was reported to have died of a heart condition.

Earlier this week the attorney-general's department cleared the R.C.M.P. The Oakalla staff and the Oakalla hospital staff of any blame in the death.

Boilermakers Agree To Strike Settlement

More than 400 boilermakers will return to work Monday at two Victoria shipyards with a 30-cent an hour wage increase. Settlement of the four-week old strike was reached yesterday by the union and Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrow's Ltd.

A one-year agreement, dating from August, 1951, was signed. The new contract grants a 30-cent hourly wage increase, retroactive to Aug. 1, boosting the basic wage to $1.90 hourly; five paid statutory holidays plus retroactive pay to July 2, 1951, at 18 cents hourly for mechanics and proportionate increases for other members; and 3% of straight time earnings for annual holidays.

BOUGHT 50 CENTS

The union had sought a 50-cent hourly wage boost over its $1.60 old hourly basic rate. The companies had offered a 25-cent hourly pay raise.

"The final settlement, as signed, amounts in take-home pay to exactly the same amount in dollars and cents as the agreements previously signed with other trades at our yards, with the exception of the machinists' union, which has a current two-year agreement," said H. A. Wallace, Yarrow's president, and Harold Husband, V.M.D. president.

The union will attempt to win a wage increase next year which will place it with the highest paid union in the yards, said union spokesman Jack Meadley. The boilermakers are now five cents an hour below the electricians' basic rate.

After five years, negotiations have brought up the basic wage to a level of most other yard unions, he said.

The agreement will set a pattern for boilermakers employed at H.M.C. Dockyard.

King George Presented Color to Welcome Couple

By RAY WORMALD

The King's Color, which will be paraded at the C.P.R. docks on the arrival of their Royal Highnesses this afternoon, is the same one presented to the Royal Canadian Navy by His Majesty King George VI during the Royal visit in May, 1939.

The Color will be "shown" in a special ceremony this afternoon before the arrival of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. After the Royal Guard has been drawn up on Belleville Street near Menzies awaiting the destroyer Crusader which is carrying the Royal couple, the Color Guard and Color Escort Party of the R.C.N. will march in the King's Color.

When showing the Color, the Color Guard and Escort slow march between ranks of the Royal Guard, returning to their position in front of, and midway between, the right and left sections of the Royal Guard.

When the Color was presented to the Navy by King George VI, it was the first time a reigning monarch had presented his Color to any Commonwealth service on its own soil.

During the 1939 ceremonies, Lieut.-Cmdr. E. P. Tisdall, R.C.N., was officer-in-charge of the Royal Guard. He now holds the rank of Captain and commands the cruiser Ontario. That ship will carry the Royal couple to Sydney, N.S., and St. John's, Newfoundland, later in the Royal Tour.

In the Royal Guard of the 1939 ceremony was Ordinary Seaman E. D. Robbins of Victoria. Today he is a lieutenant, and is officer-in-charge of the Royal Guard for Princess Elizabeth.

Color officer in today's ceremony will be Lieut. C. E. M. Leighton, R.C.N.

R.C.M.P. Ask Volunteers To Seek Missing Hunter

Nanaimo R.C.M.P. officers will conduct a search for Steve Waihoway, missing after leaving his Nanaimo home Sunday. He is reported to be carrying two rifles, food supplies and a sleeping bag.

Police have called for 50 or 60 volunteers to help search the bush in the East Wellington area.

No trace has been found of Harry Vater, 45, who failed to return home on the week-end. His car was found near the Nanaimo River. The river was dragged Wednesday.

Contractor's Troubles Blamed for Road Delay

Works Minister E. C. Carson yesterday said that slow progress in grading of the Patricia Bay express highway had been caused partially by financial difficulties of a contracting company.

He commented on reports by Arthur Ash, Saanich M.L.A., who said the tender was too low when submitted and that it has now proved very expensive.

Mr. Carson said terms of each contract call for the contractor to complete the work or forfeit his equipment.

Mr. Ash had said that while some mooring inconvenience could be expected there has been too much delay in the work.

Edition Goes To Royal Pair

Ten copies of this 76-page Royal Visit edition of The Daily Colonist were delivered to Government House this morning for the convenience of the Royal couple.

Copies of The Colonist will also be delivered to Government House Tuesday morning and to Eaglecrest Lodge Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings. Three hundred carrier boys delivered this morning's Colonist to island homes. For three days and nights mailing room employees have been laboring to get the issue ready for delivering. Twenty-one tons of paper were used and each of the more than 42,000 copies was handled four times.

Demand has far exceeded supply, so please do not destroy this paper. Save it for a friend.

RICH RESOURCES
 Lumber is an important product of Manitoba, which also possesses iron, gold, coal, magnesite and oil shale.

City Sets Record For New Airmen

AROUND TOWN

Victoria made a name for itself in recruiting for the Royal Canadian Air Force during September.

During that month the local R.C.A.F. recruiting unit, 1315 Government Street, took in 50 new members.

"On a per capita basis, Victoria led all Canada," remarked Flight-Lieut. Hugh Campbell, officer in charge of the unit. He is assisted by Flying Officers S. H. Jenkins and J. Coates. The unit opened late last October.

Shortly after 2 p.m. today the unit will be inspected by Group Captain R. S. Turnbull, D.F.C., A.F.C., D.E.M., director of personnel manning for the R.C.A.F., here on tour from headquarters in Ottawa.

Group Captain Turnbull will arrive here this morning and leave early tomorrow.

More people are out of jobs in Victoria this week than in the past six weeks, according to figures released by the National Employment Service.

The trend towards an increase in numbers of jobless follows a normal course at this time of year.

Taxi drivers are in demand, as well as sheet metal workers and auto body mechanics.

There is still a steady demand for qualified stenographers, waitresses and domestic workers.

City police are looking for an unidentified person who overturned a stolen car near the intersection of Springfield and Wilson late Friday night and left the scene of the accident.

At 11 p.m., a half hour after police found the overturned car, F. Leachman, 840 Craigflower, reported theft of the vehicle from the Halfway House.

Another Royal coat of arms will be added to the colorful array of distinguished shields which adorn the baronial fireplace in the state dining-room at Government House.

Capt. J. G. Cromack, private secretary to the Lieutenant-Governor and an amateur artist of some note, has made a hobby of painting the coats of arms of all the Governors General of Canada, most of whom stayed either in old Cary Castle or the present Government House, which opened in 1904. Most outstanding visitors, of course, have been King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, in 1939, and the Royal coat of arms is at the very top of the fireplace.

When Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh leave Government House next week, Capt. Cromack will get to work on the coat of arms of Her Royal Highness, which will be placed above the fireplace, immediately below the Royal coat of arms. The design will be taken from the Princess' standard, which will fly at Government House while the Royal couple is in residence.

DESIGNS EXACT

Capt. Cromack studies the Brett's Peerage, Baronetage and Knighthood to get the exact design of the coats of arms of the Governors General. The shields are on three ply and make a vivid and interesting splash of color and heraldry in the dining-room.

Capt. Cromack has been at Government House more than 20 years. He has served Lieutenant-Governors R. Randolph Bruce, J. W. Fordham Johnson, D. Roosevelt.

Royal Luncheon Tendered by Provincial Government Accords Precedence to Church, State Dignitaries

Church and state will take precedence at the provincial government luncheon in the Empress Hotel tomorrow for Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

It will be Victoria's most elegant, most exclusive public meal since the King and Queen were here in 1939. The government was forced to turn down many requests from people who thought they should have been invited. There is room for only 250.

Luncheon will be in the main dining room, with its portraits of the wives of the Governors-General of Canada, a number of them relations of Elizabeth and Philip.

Head table will be set on a two-foot-high platform, covered with a rich carpet in Burgundy wine red. A ramp leads to the platform. The table will be centred with chrysanthemums of white, gold, pink and royal purple.

SPECIAL WAITERS
Head table has 11 places. Six specially picked and trained waiters will serve the guests. There will be one waiter each for the Princess and the Duke.

Those at the head table will be, in this order, from left to right: Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, wife of the Minister of Fisheries; Anglican Bishop H. E. Sexton, who will ask the blessing; Mrs. Clarence Wallace, Lieutenant-Governor Wallace; Princess Elizabeth; PREMIER BYRON JOHNSON, the Duke of Edinburgh; Mrs. Johnson; Hon. R. W. Mayhew, the Royal couple's guide in B.C.; Mrs. Sexton, and Lieut. Michael Parker, R.N., the Royal equerry.

There will be 16 other tables—12 seating 16 guests each, four seating 14.

The eight guests lunching nearest to the Royal table will be Rev. G. R. Easter of First Baptist Church and Miss Lorna Jean Easter; the Chief Justice of British Columbia and Mrs. Gordon Sloan; Hon. Mrs. Andrew Elphinstone, lady-in-waiting to the Princess; Mrs. J. B. Skene, wife of the moderator of the Rev. Geoffrey Penfold, chancellor of the Catholic Diocese of Victoria (Bishop James M. Hill is in hospital); and Rev. A. E. Whitehouse of Metropolitan United Church.

FOUR TABLES
Others at the four tables immediately below the Royal table will be Mr. Justice H. L. Bird and his daughter, Mrs. Neil Hookin; Public Works Minister and Mrs. E. C. Carson; Mr. Justice J. M. Stevens, Attorney-General and Mrs. Gordon Warner, Mr. Justice and Mrs. H. S. Wood, Agriculture Minister and Mrs. Harry Bowman, Judge and Mrs. H. H. Shandley, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Sydney Smith.

FORMER OFFICIALS
Two former Lieutenant Governors of B.C.—Hon. E. W. Hamber and Hon. W. C. Woodward—will be the only two living ex-Premiers—John Hart and his wife and T. D. Pattullo, whose wife is not well enough to be present.

For Col. and Mrs. Hamber and Mr. Pattullo the occasion will bring back many memories of another Royal visit—that of the King and Queen in 1939. Then, these two were the province's top dignitaries and welcomed the Royal visitors.

One of the most excited at the luncheon will be Mrs. Eunice Stoutley, who was Princess Elizabeth's squad leader in the Auxiliary Territorial Services transport section in England during the war. Mrs. Stoutley will make her bow to the Princess in the Empress lobby and there'll probably be an exchange of a few words, recalling wartime service.

REST OF LIST
Others attending the Royal luncheon with their wives will be: Deputy fisheries minister George Alexander, deputy health minister G. F. Amyot, Arthur Ash, M.L.A., W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A., Comdr. The marriage of Thelma, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Smith, to William D. Quenneville, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Quenneville, took place at a quiet ceremony Friday evening at Metropolitan United Church with Rev. Dr. A. E. Whitehouse officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the pretty bride was attired in a velvet gabardine suit with black velvet hat with violet feather, black accessories and a white orchid corsage. Pearl earrings, gift of the groom, were her only ornaments.

Mrs. R. Robinson, sister of the groom, wearing a dusty-rose gabardine suit with pale blue hat, navy accessories and a gardenia corsage, was the bride's attendant.

Mr. H. Robinson was best man. A reception for 100 guests was held at Hampton Hall where the toast was given by Mr. W. Taylor. The table covered with a lace-edged cloth and decorated with silver vases of pink roses and lighted candles, was centred with the three-tiered cake topped with pink rosebuds.

Leaving for a honeymoon in Seattle, the bride donned a beige topcoat over her wedding costume.

Exciting!

Hats... that cause head-turning admiration! and, of course, you'll want a hat that's the newest star in the fashion picture. They're here at Miss Frith's, your favorite Hat Shop.

The first recorded abdication of a sovereign was that of the Roman dictator Sulla in 79 B.C.

Gold and bronze chrysanthemums decorated St. John's Church Saturday afternoon when Rev. Canon George Biddle solemnized the marriage of Edythe Mary, daughter of Mrs. William Wallace Duncan, 3152 Richmond Road, and the late Mr. Duncan, to James Myles Kinghorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayward Coburn Kinghorn, 1043 St. Patrick Street. Mr. F. Chubb played the organ music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Geoffrey Duncan, was charming in gleaming white satin fashioned with net yoke, long pointed sleeves, and full train, featuring brocade lace on the bodice and bordering the inverted pleat in the skirt. Her veil of gossamer silk net was gathered from the sides of the tiara-style headpiece of satin and caught across the back with feathered white carnations. A double strand of pearls was her only ornament and she carried a crescent bouquet of white feathered carnations and chrysanthemums with pink roses.

Miss Elizabeth "Lib" Boak, maid of honor, was gowned in turquoise velvet with fitted bodice and gathered skirt. She wore matching gloves and a band of ruched velvet in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of chrysanthemums shading from bronze to cream.

Mr. William Webb attended the wedding, and ushers were Mr. R. D. Ross and Mr. G. Winslow.

The reception was held at Oak Bay Beach Hotel where Mrs. Duncan gowned in smoke-blue nylon and lace over taffeta, with grey hat trimmed with pink roses, grey accessories and a corsage of violets and pink roses, and Mrs. Kinghorn wearing periwinkle blue lace over taffeta with contrasting wine velvet hat, and corsage of Pinocchio roses and gardenias, assisted the young couple in receiving. The three-tiered cake bedded in tulle and topped with Sweetheart roses, centred the table flanked by lighted white tapers in silver candelabra. Presiding at the urns were Mrs. A. Wilson, Mrs. G. J. Jackson, Mrs. F. Bonnell and Mrs. W. K. Willis. The health of the bride was proposed by Mr. H. B. Bate.

Driving south on honeymoon the bride wore a skipper blue handwoven wool suit with grey kidskin coat, grey felt hat and gloves, blue calfskin shoes and purse, and corsage of Tallman roses.

School Sport Event Won By Belmont "A" House

By RUTH MILLS
Belmont High School
Belmont High held an inter-house sports event Oct. 12. The sports were the high jump, ball throw, for distance, sprints and relays.

For the last three years "B" House has come out on top at however, they seem to have broken down completely under the stiffer competition and, at the present moment, are running a very lowly third, having placed last in Friday's contest. "A" House won, with "B" and "C" second and third respectively. The standings are now: "A" 59, "B" 57, "C" 53 and "D" 48.

New Marionette Club Starts at S. J. Willis

By HARLENE CHRISTENSEN
S. J. Willis Junior High School
A new attraction at our school this year is a Marionette Club, sponsored by Mrs. D. Williams and Miss C. Menzies. Gwen Gilie, Grade IX-D, was elected president, and Helen Hardy, Grade IX-D, secretary. Objective of this club is to teach students how to make and manipulate puppets, so that, in the future, they may be able to write, direct, and produce plays for the students.

In the music department, the Girls' Choir has elected Phyllis Calvert, Grade IX-D, secretary, with Dawn Reeve, Grade IX-B, and Elaine Holstrom, Grade VII-F, as assistants.

The Boys' Chorus is very enthusiastic, even though it has only 12 members. The sponsor, Miss M. Auterson, expressed her wish for more boys, especially those in the Grade IX class.

Some 20 students have undertaken to learn how to arrange instrumental music for a school assembly at Christmas and one in the spring.

No far 190 Symphony tickets have been sold, and it is expected that the sales will reach an even greater amount.

Members of the Drama Club are busy rehearsing a play called "First Chords." Miss C. MacNab, the sponsor, stated that due to the short time left, noon-hour rehearsals would be necessary.

Entries for our school in the swimming gala will include 17 girls: eight in the relay, three in the backstroke, three in the breaststroke, and three in the free-style. There will also be two relays composed of 15 boys from Grades VII, VIII, IX.

The first girls' grass hockey game between House I and II resulted in a tied score of one-all. Eighty boys have signed up for touch rugby this season, and it is expected the inter-house competition will be keen.

Boys' floor hockey will start in December, and it is thought that there will be a good turnout of both participants and spectators.

The first regular meeting of the S. J. Willis P.T.A. was held last Tuesday. Guest speaker was Mr. Willard Ireland, provincial archivist and librarian.

Mr. Ireland said that in school, children must be taught courage, enterprise, the necessity of hard work, a sense of true justice, and a sense of co-operation.

On Wednesday, we were host to Milnes Landing's three soft-ball teams. The games were closely contested, but we are proud to say that Belmont won all three games.

Student Council has been working too. As soon as down pay school sweaters, hats, rings and pins will be ordered. The council also has succeeded in getting student cards for the Famous Players theatres.

Let Col. W. J. Farnsworth, E.D., officer commanding Bay Street Armoury, has kindly granted permission for the 75th Anti-Aircraft Band to perform at Belmont on Oct. 26, at 8 p.m. in support of our school band. We invite everyone to come and enjoy the music, and at the same time give our hand a boost. Last year Victoria Schools Band helped us out and the evening proved most enjoyable.

Central Junior High Tries Out Royal Cheers

By BARBARA SANSON
Central Junior High School
With the unsolicited co-operation of several citizens, a successful practice for the Royal visit was held on Tuesday afternoon. After sizing all pupils were taken to positions on the Yates Street boulevard. Many were the hearty cheers received by passing citizens, many of them responding with a "royal" wave or salute. It is fortunate that the gathering point is so close to the school.

A preliminary meeting of students interested in the formation of a photography club was held at noon on Friday. Mr. Dore of the staff has consented to guide the activities of such a club.

The Newspaper Club, heartened by the success of its last issue, has distributed assignments for a big Halloween centration.

In the boys' soccer league

House I is well out in front at present with a total of 11 points, followed by House II with eight and House III with three. Many stiff battles have been fought lately. Last Tuesday, Don Paulin, captain of House I seniors, drove a hard shot late in the second half which House II goalie Hans Jorgensen could not handle. This was the only goal of the game, indicating the closeness of the play.

Brian Scroggs played well, but had to be assisted from the field with an injured ankle. He's around the school again, though. Fred Curtis of House II also turned in a strong game.

The rep basketball squad lost its first game to a Vic High team.

Mr. Macdonald announced the starting of noon-hour movies, and a large crowd were on hand Thursday to enjoy two old favorites, "The Three Bears" and "Daddy Duck."

Teen Tastes In Clothes

By DEE LAVOIE
Just for a change, let's turn to the masculine side of the campus and see what the style-seeters of the stronger sex are doing for school.

Seems to us that the boys have been wearing pretty much the same sort of clothes for the last umpteen years, but anyway, here's the overall fashion picture as we get it.

worn over tee shirts, are standard apparel. The super-soft, cashmeres, and lambs' wools are popular, especially the heather-grey ones. Could it be that the men are copying us, girls? and the always-right dark greens and wines.

A good many of the boys are sporting their school sweaters decked out with crests and awards that testify to their burly owners' athletic prowess.

Tee shirts, worn alone or under V-necked sweaters, are very practical for school, though it strikes us that we're noticing fewer of the flashy ones around.

Also high-style for campus wear are neatly tailored sports shirts, in muted shades of wool or gabardine. Many of these feature a diagonal zipper closing.

Definitely helping to brighten up the classrooms are those fire-engine red hunter's shirts!

By the way, whatever happened to those smart bow-ties? There are hardly any around this year.

Light-colored cords and sun-tans (one lad claims he has blue sun-tans) are the choice for school-day doings, though there are still a good many pairs of the darker draped cords to be seen.

Speaking of drapes, they seem to have gone "way down in popularity, except for the ever-favorite black ones. Looks almost as if the ordinary smartly-tailored slacks are making a comeback, specially in the smooth finished grey worsteds.

To add a bit of variety, many of the men are choosing dark-toned corduroy jackets for on-campus wear, in battle-jacket style or the more extreme longer styles, often belted in or worn with the tie ends dangling.

With the advent of colder weather, last year's favored bomber jackets will be coming back into the spotlight to vie with the satin and gabardine wind-breakers.

Although it is open to all students of Vic High the primary purpose of the dance is to help junior students "break the ice" and that it served this purpose is proved by the fact that over 300 Grade IX and X students attended.

One eagerly awaited feature of the dance was the staff skill featuring several male staff members who are too modest to have their names mentioned. Under the direction of drama teacher, Mr. Maine, there "Doughty Dominies" gave an unforgettable performance in their "All-Spook" Exorcism, consisting of a log rolling and chopping contest, a Beautiful Baby Parade and the other events associated with Sooke sports.

The costumes were unique to say the least and the pantomime which accompanied the dialogue was of a type rarely seen in school dramas!

No small part of the credit for the success of the school dance should go to Miss L. B. Maxwell and the girls of the social committee who assisted her in transforming the gym's usual drab emptiness into a mass of gay streamers, fluttering bunting and gay background scenes.

On Monday afternoon Vic High students gathered at Yates Street where with Central Junior High pupils they will line the boulevard to watch Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh drive past on their city-wide tour. An estimated 6,000 students from Victoria schools will line this section of the parade route.

Following a long elimination process a tentative Totem line-up of 16 has been chosen by coach George Andrews.

Linked closely with the Totems and with other athletic activities around the school are cheerleaders Gerry Bilou, Belle, Luscombe, Gerry Koski, Eddy Low and Ted Lunt, whose lusty cheers will, it is hoped, spur V.H.S. teams on to new heights this year.

Of prime importance to H-Y is the staff-sponsored dance, held this Friday in the V.H.S. gym this, the first social event of the year, was waltzed off under a streamer-decorated ceiling, to music supplied by Bernie

Staff-Sponsored Dance Big Success As Teachers Turn Slapstick Artists

School Dance Planned

By DAVE BROWN and ANTHONY GAMBRIEL
North Saanich High School
The Student Council announced at its last meeting that a casual dance will be held on November 2. It will take place in the school auditorium with the Island Band Wagon providing the dance melodies.

On Wednesday, a school assembly had the privilege of seeing two films on Canadian Arctic expeditions. The first, called "Safety Patrol," was an account of the journey of the R.C.M.P. supply ship St. Roch from Vancouver to Lunenburg, N.S., through the Northwest Passage. The showing of this film was made possible by Cpl. P. Allan, R.C.M.P. of Sydney. Another such film, depicting the visit of the R.C.A.F. ship Snowbird to the Canadian North, was presented by Sgt. Ldr. Burridge of the Pat Bay Air Station.

Line of Royalty Encompasses More Than Thousand Years

When Elizabeth becomes the seventh English Queen, she will take her place in a history of sovereigns that goes back to A.D. 827 when Egbert was King of Wessex and all England.

Scots will look back to 1033 when the first British king came to the throne, and then to 1057 when Malcolm Ceanmor was crowned King of Scotland.

Wales was ruled by Sovereign Princes from the earliest times until 1301 when a son of Edward I became the first English Prince of Wales.

This son later became Edward II, who was born in Wales at Caernarvon and was created Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester at the age of five in Lincoln Parliament of 1301.

The title Prince of Wales is not invested in the ruling family's eldest son as many assume. It is the only title after the King's. The last Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor, was invested in Caernarvon Castle on July 1, 1911.

WARRIOR LIGHTS

BY-RAY WORMALD

CALLING A VETERAN, I WOULD SAY, "YOU ARE A WARRIOR." I have known many men who have served in the military and who have returned home with a sense of duty and honor.

The warrior spirit is a timeless quality that has been passed down from generation to generation. It is a spirit of courage, of sacrifice, and of unwavering loyalty.

In the face of adversity, the warrior stands firm. He does not flinch, he does not retreat. He fights for what is right, for what is just, and for the freedom of his fellow men.

The warrior is a man of action. He is not a dreamer, he is a doer. He takes responsibility for his actions and for the actions of those around him.

The warrior is a man of honor. He lives by a code of ethics, a code that is as strong as the steel of his sword. He is a man of integrity, a man of principle.

The warrior is a man of faith. He believes in a higher power, in a greater purpose. He is a man of conviction, a man of belief.

The warrior is a man of peace. He is not a man of war, he is a man of peace. He is a man who seeks to understand, to empathize, and to heal.

Geographic Oddities

There are many strange and unusual facts about the world's geography. Some are well-known, while others are lesser-known. Here are a few examples of geographic oddities.

One of the most unusual facts about the world's geography is that there is a country, Monaco, that is completely surrounded by another country, France.

Another strange fact is that there is a city, Ljubljana, in Slovenia, that is built on a hill that is shaped like a giant's foot.

There is also a town, Portlouis, in Ireland, that is built on a rock in the middle of the sea.

Little Finland Anxious to Impress World As Host Nation for 1952 Summer Olympics

The 15th Olympic Games will be held next summer at Helsinki, the capital of Finland, 100 miles from the nearest Russian outpost and only 75 miles from Soviet Russia proper. Charles A. Smith, INS London Bureau manager, recently returned from Helsinki after six weeks' Finland's preparations for the games, in which the United States sent 200 athletes and officials. In this, the first of a series of facts and figures, Smith describes how Finland is meeting the problems of organizing the games.

It is a common mistake to think that the only way to get a good deal is to buy in bulk. In fact, the best way to get a good deal is to buy what you need, when you need it, and in the right quantity. This is the principle of the "just in time" inventory system, which has been widely adopted by manufacturers and retailers alike. By using this system, companies can reduce their inventory costs, improve their cash flow, and increase their customer satisfaction. The key to success with this system is to have a good understanding of your customer's needs and to be able to respond quickly to changes in demand. This requires a close relationship with your suppliers and a flexible production process. The "just in time" system is not a magic bullet, but it is a powerful tool that can help you to get the most out of your business.

How to Read a Compass

A COMPASS is a necessity when you are in the woods or on a mountain trail. It is also useful in any camping or hiking.

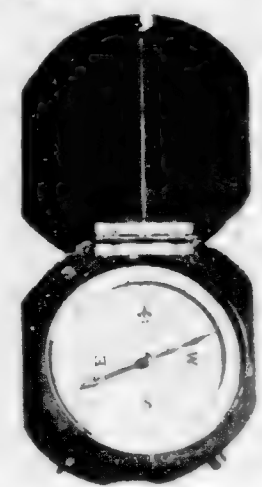

The best compass to use is the one that is most accurate. It should be a standard type, with a clear glass cover and a simple dial. It should also be easy to carry and use.

IN REVERSE
The compass is a simple instrument. It consists of a magnetized needle that points toward the North Pole. The needle is mounted on a pivot and can swing freely. The dial is marked with degrees and the cardinal directions.

It is important to know how to read a compass. The needle always points North. If you are facing North, the needle will point straight ahead. If you are facing South, the needle will point straight back.

WAY TO READ
If you are facing North, the needle will point straight ahead. If you are facing South, the needle will point straight back. If you are facing East, the needle will point to the right. If you are facing West, the needle will point to the left.

HOW TO ADJUST
The compass should be adjusted to the local magnetic declination. This is the angle between the magnetic North and the true North. It varies from place to place and is usually given in the local almanac.

Canada's First Store Welcomes

Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip

Today marks another memorable occasion in the history of our Company in Victoria—once again we proudly welcome members of the Royal Family to our City. On October 1, 1901, the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York were our distinguished visitors. It was our privilege to greet the Prince of Wales, September 23, 1919, October 1, 1924, and again, with the Duke of Kent on August 19, 1927. On June 1, 1929, we honored the Duke of Gloucester. Princess Elizabeth's parents, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth were our gracious guests on May 30, 1939.

Our wish today is as heartfelt and as joyously given as it was back in 1901—

A VERY SINCERE WELCOME!

Elizabeth's Record Demonstrates Her Devotion To Life of Service

Princess Fulfills Promise

Made on Coming of Age

The Princess Elizabeth, who is also Her Majesty's representative in the Commonwealth, is a devoted one. Princess Elizabeth is no exception and this is a characteristic of the official, and domestic, life of the young Princess.

At the time of her coming of age, the Princess made a promise to devote her life to service. This promise has been fulfilled in a most remarkable manner. The Princess has been a devoted member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police since 1944. She has also been a member of the Royal Canadian Legion, the Royal Canadian Air Force, the Royal Canadian Navy, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. She has also been a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Royal Canadian Legion, the Royal Canadian Air Force, the Royal Canadian Navy, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Country Retreat Spacious

Seascape From Patio Takes Breath Away

Eagle Crest, at Qualicum Beach, where Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will vacation for three days this week, before starting back to London, is one of the showplaces of Vancouver Island.

It's a millionaire's country lodge, luxurious, spacious, complete with rustic beauty—the kind of a country retreat Hollywood delights to show in its most elaborate sets. It's in a magnificent setting of landscaped gardens, deep virgin forest—and there's a seascape from the patio that fairly takes the breath away.

BUILT IN 1936

It was built in 1936 by the late Senator A. D. McRae, multi-millionaire businessman and Conservative politician. It took 100 men more than a year to clear the forest, landscape the gardens and build the main lodge and adjoining buildings.

One of the biggest tasks was clearing half a mile of beach of giant boulders, some of which weighed up to 37 tons.

The Senator would never say how much Eagle Crest and his vast adjoining farms and prize-winning cattle cost him, but it was probably in the neighborhood of $500,000, a fabulous sum in those days.

RESORT FOR RICH

Eagle Crest is now an exclusive summer resort for rich people, who pay as high as $50 a day for privacy and fine food. It's so exclusive that an unknown, would-be guest, writing for reservations, has his home-town credentials checked, unknown to him, to make sure he belongs to the best circles. Transients are never received. Twenty guests can be accommodated. They form a big house party.

The baronial-type dining room has a splendid bar of burnished copper, with massive metal-studded doors to hide it if necessary. There's an oak refectory table with matching chairs, specially imported by the senator from England. In this room the Royal couple and their entourage will dine. Or, if the weather is exceptionally fine, there could be a barbecue supper before the outdoor grill on the beach. Eagle Crest Saturday night barbecue suppers are a summer feature.

FLOORS LIKE DECKS

The oak floors in the great lounge, with its 27-foot ceiling and fireplace of boulders from the creeks of Vancouver Island, are laid like the deck of a ship, held together by wooden pegs. The floor is scattered with Bedouin rugs in natural cream and brown camelhair, alternating with—silk, undyed Oriental weaves in the same tone combinations.

Mrs. McRae was an avid collector of priceless art objects, and from her world travels she brought home many rich and rare souvenirs which are still at Eagle Crest—pictures and jugs, shawls and carpets, china and unusual

A good idea of the interior of Eagle Crest is given in these two pictures of the famed up-island resort. Shown above is the private retreat for Princess Elizabeth, a rustic yet cosy and colorful dining room. Complete rest

Here is the main lounge of sumptuous Eagle Crest, show place of Vancouver Island. Gatherings of the inner-circle of the tour party, including Elizabeth and Philip, will be held in this spacious room. Philip, noted as an outdoors man, is expected to be right at home in this Island paradise when the party spends Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday here this week. Side trips are expected to be made all around the Qualicum area.

glass. All the McRae custom-made monogrammed linen and silver will be used for the Royal visitors.

MAIN LODGE

The main lodge building is of logs, taken from the forests of Vancouver Island. They were specially selected and were cut before the sap started to run, so they would not darken in color. Walls in the lodge that are not of logs are of knotty pine and cottonwood. The senator insisted on as many of the materials as possible being native to Vancouver Island.

The hearth in the dining room is flanked by six foot high torchieres, holding tall candles, and the lighting fixtures in the lounge are of wrought iron, with amber-glass lanterns.

Eagle Crest has been polished from top to bottom for the Royal visit and its copper and brass will gleam in the firelight and the candlelight as Princess and Duke relax in the lounge for two evenings.

SIMPLE VISIT

They want the visit to their vacation retreat as simple as possible. Special menus featuring as far as possible produce of nearby farms have been prepared for the Royal Visit.

Every effort has been made to keep the landscaped part of the estate as beautiful as possible. Two gardeners were kept on staff after the resort closed for the summer. They spent six weeks looking after the chrysanthemums and other fall flowers, so there would be a blaze of autumn color against the deep green of the forest and to be a carpet of brilliance before the wonderful vista of sea, islands, passing ships and distant snow-capped mountains.

Senator and Mrs. McRae entertained extensively at Eagle Crest for a few years, their weekend house parties keeping Vancouver society agog as many sought invitations, almost as eagerly coveted as a bid to a state dinner at Government House.

In 1942 Mrs. McRae died, and less than a year later the Senator married again, a Texas widow. But he had largely lost interest in Eagle Crest, being immersed in war work. It was then he gave his Vancouver mansion, Hycroft, to the Government for a veterans' hospital. It is now Shaughnessy Military Hospital.

The Senator lived in a Hotel Vancouver suite and died in Ottawa in 1946. Since then one of his three daughters, Mrs. R. P. Baker, has died.

Rites of Accession Interesting

Interest in the rites of accession to the throne of Britain are heightened by the visit of Princess Elizabeth, first in line of succession to the throne.

One of the least-known parts of the accession is the King's Oath, which is taken as the first act of the new sovereign at the Accession Council after making a speech.

It reads, in part: "After the death of his present Majesty proclamation of the claim of Right." The taking of the oath is required by an act passed at Edinburgh, which was incorporated in the Act of Union.

Canada Puts On Autumn Dress For Royal Tour

Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh are seeing Canada in her colorful autumnal dress.

Their arrival brought them to this country in the first flush of autumn and they will travel the land in the lazy, golden days of that distinctively Canadian fifth season—Indian summer.

Canada's Indian summer, which marks the turn of the leaves, sees the weather pretty much the same across the country.

Weather experts say their closest parallel to United Kingdom climate will be Nova Scotia.

Royal Party Staff Comprises Eight

Staff of the Royal party on this tour is headed by Leslie A. J. Treby, clerk to the comptroller of the household.

Other members of the staff include Miss M. Macdonald, maid; Miss E. MacGregor, maid; John Dean, valet; W. Holloway, butler; J. Pearce, butler; Miss E. E. Lovell, maid to the lady-in-waiting; and Inspector F. Kelly.

A Welcome

It was never greater than that we extend to Their Royal Highnesses Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. Our beautiful city was named after Queen Victoria, great-grandmother of the Princess, and it was during that famous reign—in 1887—that this firm was founded.

Since that early date, Greater Victoria has grown beyond all measure, as the citizens' greetings will show. We ourselves are proud of the small part we have played in the development of our city, proud, therefore, to extend hearty greetings to our Royal visitors.

C.P.R., C.N.R. Lend Coaches On Royal Train

The train in which the Royal pair are travelling consists of a steam locomotive and 10 cars, eight of which provide living and eating quarters. The other two are baggage cars. One of the baggage cars houses an auxiliary electric generator for use when, as will sometimes be the case, the train is parked for several hours.

OFF-DUTY QUARTERS

The other, in addition to being used for normal baggage purposes, is also equipped to provide living quarters for the dining car crew when they are off duty.

The equipment from which the train is made up is drawn from cars owned by the Government, the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

Unlike the Royal Train in 1939, the exterior is not painted a uniform color, but continues to carry the Canadian Pacific red and the Canadian National green.

Kindly Elizabeth's Home Clearing House For Hopes, Problems of Many Persons

Princess Clears Up Problems For Folk in Distress

For variety and richness of human interest it would be hard indeed to match the letters which year by year flow in from every corner of the earth to Clarence House, London home of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

They come from all manner of persons, young and old, rich and poor. Most poignant of all are those from ordinary humble folk who, looking about them for aid and comfort in time of trouble or distress, sit down to write to Princess Elizabeth, obeying some impulse stronger than themselves.

They do not write in vain; in every case of this kind Princess Elizabeth sees that the request goes to the organization or department best able to cope with it. Because Clarence House knows which body can deal effectively with the request better than the ordinary person, action often results.

The other day this is but one instance out of many—a woman named Mrs. Winifred Ball wrote to the Princess "as one mother to another," asking her assistance for her baby daughter Helena, who suffers from spinal trouble and recurring attacks of bronchial pneumonia.

The Princess' response was swift and practical. To Mrs. Ball's home at Arden Park, near Manchester, in Northern England, a few days later there came a letter with the Clarence House cipher. Mrs. Ball read that inquiries had been made at the Great Ormond Street Hospital for children, and that if Helen could be brought to London, one of the most famous specialists in children's diseases would see the baby and arrange for an appropriate course of treatment.

WROTE IN DESPERATION

Then there was the case of young Ernest Frampton and his wife and their ailing baby daughter, Elizabeth. They were living in an old army hut on the south coast, a hut with a patched-up roof and with doors and windows that fitted badly, letting in draughts which cut across the living room like sharp knives.

The doctor had warned the Framptons that their child was sick and needed warmth, but they could find no better place to go.

One night in desperation the young couple sat down and between them they composed a letter to Princess Elizabeth. It was not long before the local public housing authority received a letter from Clarence House drawing attention to the plight of the Framptons. The case was looked into in detail by the authority and the justice of this family's needs recognized. The delighted couple were offered greatly improved accommodation. Thankfully, they accepted it.

There was to quote another instance—a letter in the Princess' mail one morning which bore an American postmark. It was from a G.I. war bride, Mrs. Betty Mauley by name, who was writing to the Princess to explain that her father, an ex-boxer, was seriously ill in England, and that she was anxious to go home to see him.

The chances that anything would come of this letter may have seemed pretty slender to Mrs. Mauley, but the answer from Clarence House was prompt, sympathetic and, as always, very much to the point.

During the latter part of the Second World War Princess Elizabeth was a junior officer in Britain's Auxiliary Territorial Service, and this fact has often encouraged girls who served in this women's army auxiliary to write to the Princess about their personal problems.

SAW THE PARADE

One of them, Miss Frances Morris, who had been 'invalided out of the service with an injured back, wrote after the war that she was very anxious to see the Victory parade, but because of her injury was unable to stand for any length of time.

"I thought perhaps I could help," she added. Again the Princess acted, with the result that on the day of the parade Miss Morris had a seat at a window in Park Lane, from which she was able to watch the procession in comfort.

Sometimes these personal letters appeal not so much to the Princess' compassion as to her sense of humour. One such letter arrived as the Princess was setting off with the Duke of Edinburgh for a State Visit to Paris. It was from a schoolboy named Clifford Rouse, who said that he had left his camera at a Paris railway station on his way home from a holiday. He would be grateful if the Princess would call for it. "You are the only person I know who is going to Paris," the boy explained. "Iaster Rouse got a letter back; 'While whether she herself will have an opportunity of bringing back your camera from Paris, she is making inquiries to see whether it can be restored to you by any means."

The Princess asked the British Embassy to assist, and thus it was that a resourceful schoolboy, who believed in aiming high, got his property back.

All the instances quoted here could be multiplied many times over, from which it will be seen that in this respect Princess Elizabeth's home has already become a sort of clearing house of human hopes and problems.

King Presents Colors to Canadian Navy

Historic moment in the 1939 Royal visit to Victoria was when King George VI presented the colors to the local naval division. The presentation ceremony took place at Beacon Hill Park, and this picture shows Lt. James Hibbard, the color bearer, accepting the flag from His Majesty. With his back to the camera is Capt. Victor Brodeur, later Flag Officer of the Pacific Fleet.

Officers Who Welcomed King, Queen Still Active in Victoria and Canada

One of the most brilliant ceremonies in which the King and Queen took part during their 1939 visit was the presentation of His Majesty's colors to the Royal Canadian Navy at Beacon Hill Park.

It is interesting to note where all those who played a prominent role in this naval occasion are today.

Lt.-Cmdr. E. P. Tisdall, who commanded the color guard, is now commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Ontario, with the rank of captain.

Lieut. J. C. Hibbard, who was in charge of the color party and received the colors from King George, is now a commodore in charge of naval personnel at Ottawa.

Lt.-Cmdr. H. F. Pullen, who was in charge of the escort party, is now a commodore and in command of H.M.C.S. Stadacona at Halifax. He commanded the cruiser Ontario until recently.

Lt.-Cmdr. A. C. Wurtele, who was in command of companies lining the streets, is now retired with the rank of commander. He is a councillor in Esquimalt and recently caused quite a flutter by almost winning the provincial by-election in Esquimalt.

Lt.-Col. J. R. Kingham and Lt.-Col. Vincent McKenna, who commanded the two regiments which participated in the ceremonies, are both here. They participated in the Second World War as well as the First World War.

Was Japanese Prisoner, Now Tends Royal Couple

The Canadian doctor and nurse who have been accompanying Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on the Royal tour, are Col. N. B. Crawford, M.B.E., of Ottawa and Winnipeg, assistant medical director at Army Headquarters, and F.O. Ella Beatrice Mannix of Meota, Sask., senior matron at the R.C.A.F. hospital at Rockcliffe.

Besides providing medical care for the Royal couple, they are responsible for medical service to other passengers on the Royal train and plane, and for reporters on the Royal tour.

Col. Crawford, 45, was medical officer of the Winnipeg Gren-adiers and later senior medical officer of the Hong Kong forces when they surrendered on Christmas Day, 1941, and was a Japanese prisoner-of-war for nearly four years.

He later returned to Japan to testify at the war crime trials and later took part in discussions at Geneva leading to revision of treaties concerning care and treatment of sick and wounded war prisoners.

Miss Mannix has logged more than 3,000 hours as a Canadian Pacific Airlines stewardess. She joined the R.C.A.F. in 1948. She was educated in Saskatoon and Edmonton.

Princess, Duke to See Washington's City

Washington has been termed the most beautiful city in the United States. George Washington intended it to be.

The first president was responsible for the original plan for the city, on the left bank of the Potomac, 40 miles south-west of Baltimore. It was laid out in a regular pattern to the design of Maj. Pierre l'Enfant, a French engineer. It is dominated by the Capitol, home of the Congress.

Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, nearing the end of their Canadian tour, will spend almost two full days in the capital of the United States. They arrive there by air from Montreal, late on Oct. 31 and leave early on Nov. 1 to pay up the tour of the Dominion where they left off. Then it's down to the maritimes. The flight plan from Montreal to the only American city the Royal couple will visit has not been announced but it is likely that the 2½-hour flight from Montreal will be laid out so that the tourists will at least glimpse New York city. For what visitor to North America could resist the lure of Manhattan's towers seen so clearly from the air?

Princess will be the guests of President and Mrs. Truman. They won't sleep in the White House for what is undeniably a major repairs. Mr. and Mrs. Truman are staying across the street, at Blair House, and it is there that the Royal guests will be put up.

The President and Mrs. Truman will be on hand at National Airport when the Royal plane lands. The visitors will hardly be whisked to a reception at the Statler Hotel given by Washington press correspondents. At 5 p.m. they will be the guests of the Trumans at a dinner.

Ontario cities tied with one another in extending a hearty welcome to the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh even if, as at Cornwall (above) the Royal Train made only a short stop. In the fifteen minutes at Cornwall, 30,000 people gathered round the railway tracks, the Duke and Duchess broke from the official party to speak to war veterans, air cadets and service men gathered on the platform.
